Special Bulletin

INFORMATION WANTED

On April 20, 1978, the remains of the above victim were found buried in a commercial flower field in the 19300 block of South Wilmington Avenue, Carson. She was estimated to be between 14 and 20 years of age. The victim had long black hair, her fingernails were painted pink, and her upper teeth overlapped on the right side.

The victim had a 3-inch vertical scar on her abdomen and stretch marks, indicating that she possibly had a child.

Two Hispanic males were seen driving away from the site in a 1970 dark blue Vega Hatchback where the victim's body was found.
